

There's a little arc and a big arc to the discrimination. Try both and try different combos of approach obstacles. Does the limited perspective of the tire make it harder to direct your dog? The jump at the other end of the dogwalk is just for reversing direction. Play around.